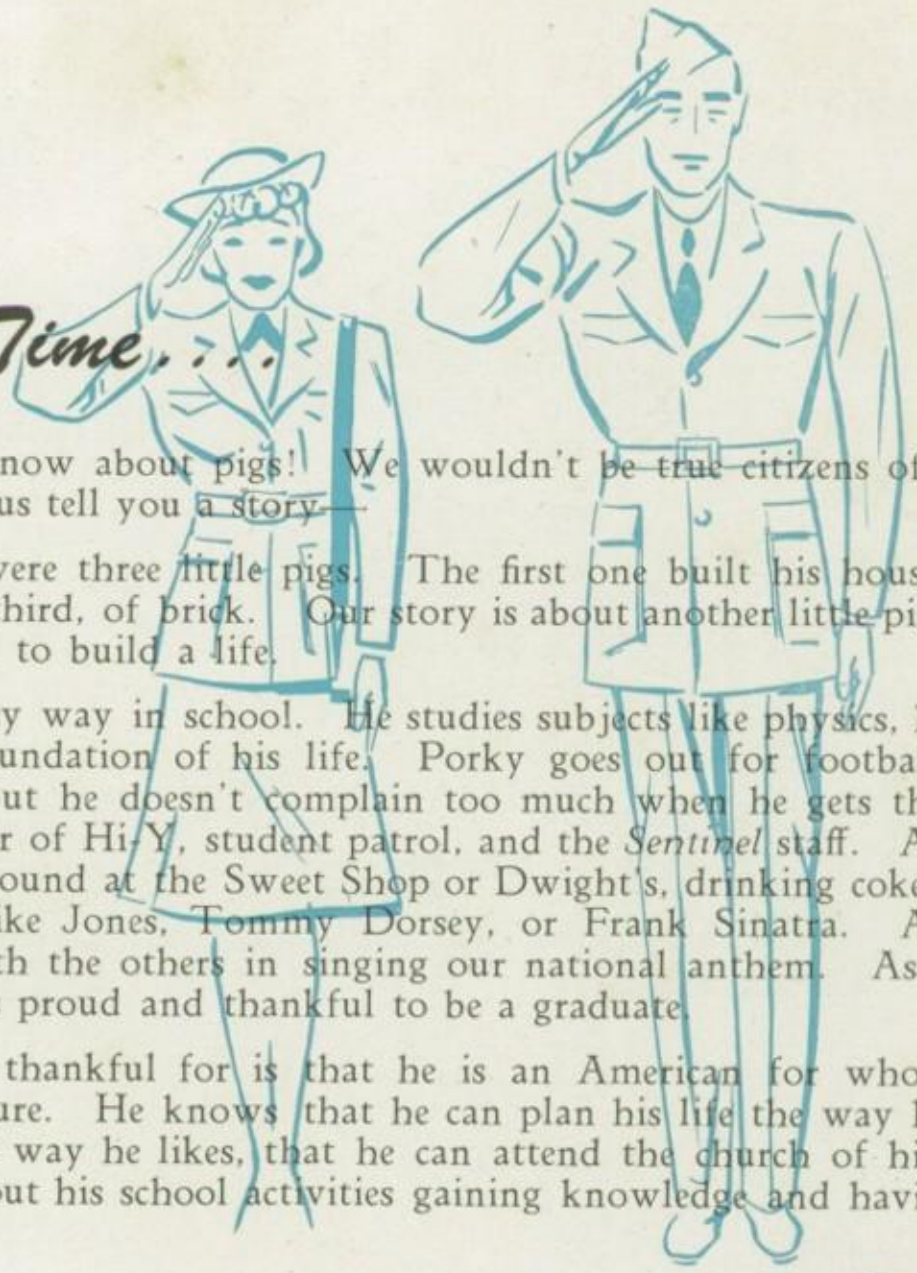
Once Upon A Time . . .



We who live in Austin know about pigs! We wouldn't be true citizens of a packing-house town if we didn't! Let us tell you a story—

Once upon a time there were three little pigs. The first one built his house of straw; the second, of wood; and the third, of brick. Our story is about another little pig, Porky by name, who goes to high school to build a life.

Porky doesn't take the easy way in school. He studies subjects like physics, history, and geometry which will be the foundation of his life. Porky goes out for football expecting to make first-string fullback, but he doesn't complain too much when he gets the waterboy assignment. Porky is a member of Hi-Y, student patrol, and the Sentinel staff. After school, unless he has a job, he can be found at the Sweet Shop or Dwight's, drinking coke and listening to juke box platters of Spike Jones, Tommy Dorsey, or Frank Sinatra. At assembly meetings, his voice is raised with the others in singing our national anthem. As commencement time approaches, Porky is proud and thankful to be a graduate.

But what Porky is most thankful for is that he is an American for whom men are fighting to make the future secure. He knows that he can plan his life the way he wants it, that he can speak and write the way he likes, that he can attend the church of his choice on Sunday, and that he can go about his school activities gaining knowledge and having fun.

IN TYPICAL ACTIVITIES

The four important phases of high school life: class work, part time employment, athletics, and social life, are all necessary as cornerstones for the building of a worthwhile citizen.

Many students (so-called) regard class work as necessary evils of going to school. They are the ones who do just enough work to get by. But the students who really work to the best of their abilities are making the most of their opportunities while attending school.

Working after school hours is an important part of student life because it gives the person a chance to earn his own way. He becomes aware of the importance of education in following the vocation of his choice.

Athletics are essential to student life. For those who are spectators as well as those who are participants, the true meaning of fair play and good sportsmanship is brought home. The stress of late years upon physical fitness has been felt especially in the high schools from which most of the material for the armed forces comes.

Social life can always be termed a significant part of student life. "All work and no play" does not make for a complete personality, and such a personality is the ultimate goal of all educational plans.

Two, Please!

Every good builder must serve his term of apprenticeship. Porky Pig, as a typical student, recognizes and accepts the guidance of a competent faculty in helping to mold his life. This guidance enables Porky to take an active part in organized class activities as his first life-building project.

FACULTY AND CLASSES

Mr. S. T. Neveln, superintendent

Superintendent

In his own kindly fashion, whether driving his shiny Buick or sitting behind his big desk, Supt. Neveln acts as adviser and guide, eager to help us further our education. We most often see and remember him as one who draws the undisturbed attention of our student body at the assemblies. All our issues of importance must receive his consideration and approval before they can pass.

He is meeting the many pressing problems as superintendent of schools with an aim toward making us better citizens for our democracy in the future world.

Principals

Besides a place of learning, a place of pleasure and enjoyment is Mr. Knudson's aim for Austin High. Along with regular duties, he enjoys many outside interests. His special hobby deals with airplanes; he likes flying and is a licensed pilot.

"Report at once to room 203" is a well-known phrase. Mr. Westcott is the person whom we see when we have been absent or tardy. He has charge of student attendance records and the weekly stamp and bond sales.

Mr. Marvin C. Knudson, principal

Mr. R. W. Wescott, assistant principal

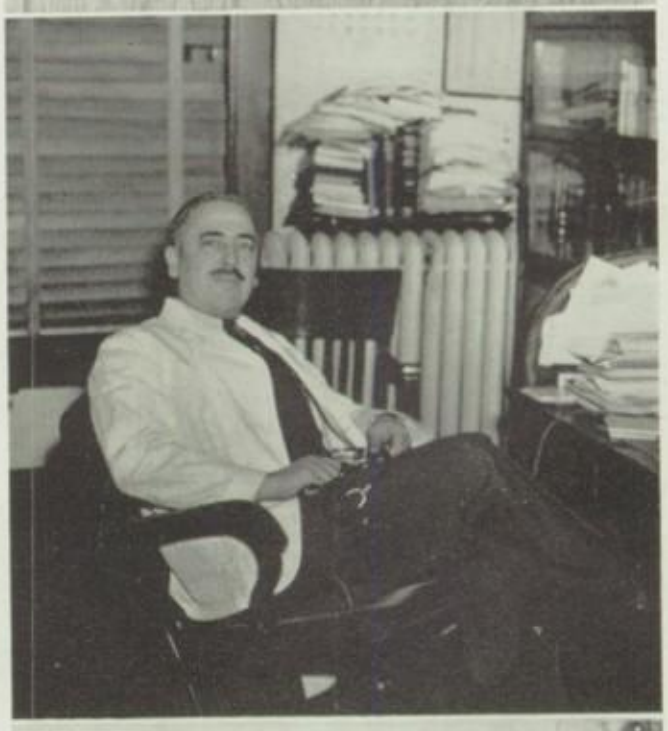
Board Of Education

A successful business executive, Mr. H. O. Westby, serves as president of the School Board. This is Mr. Westby's ninth year as a board member which speaks for itself of his untiring efforts and enthusiasm for the affairs of the school.

Mr. Westby

Dr. P. A. Lommen, one of the directors of the school board, takes great pleasure in his hobby of photography. Golf is another favorite pastime, but he has little time for that along with his professional duties.

Although she has been an active member of several influential organizations, Mrs. W. B. Grise has given up many of them to become head of the American Junior Red Cross in this county.



Dr. Lommen

Mr. R. C. Alderson has served on the school board for twenty-one years. He is a valued member for his long-lasting sincerity in the activities of the school.

Along with being manager of the Austin Button Factory, Mr. Brooks Cutter is the treasurer of the Austin School Board. Because of war time conditions, his like of scenic driving and fishing has been curtailed.

Mrs. Grise

Chairman of the Purchasing Committee of the school board, Mr. Kleo H. Gildner came to Austin from Rockford, Ill., in 1931. Believing that the OPA is a benefit for everyone generally, as a merchant he is thoroughly in favor of its principles.

Mr. Roy Tedrow, who enjoys building things in his spare time, has been a member of the school board for three years. His work as chief operating engineer for Geo. A. Hormel & Co. keeps Mr. Tedrow pretty busy.

Mr. Alderson

Mr. Tedrow

Mr. Gildner

Mr. Cutter

Social Studies

Are you a Democrat or a Republican? Many hot debates were held in the social science classes concerning this question. Whether you might have argued pro or con there were many interesting points expressed and both parties were ably represented. In this way, a general knowledge of the government's affairs was begun for the future citizens of our country.

In the field of world affairs, interest was continuously expressed in developments in all theaters of the war. Lively discussions on military tactics and postwar planning resulted from extensive reading, attendance at documentary films, and radio reports.

English

Today twelfth grade students are openly admitting that the day of looking down the nose at the lesser accomplishments of the junior high has passed forever.

Students are required to pass tests of prescribed information which is considered necessary for grades seven through twelve, with a 75% accuracy rating. This has been done in an effort to unify standards.

The English idiom, "minimum essentials," has become one of terrifying proportions to seniors!

One of the features of the department was the showcase display arranged by the junior high school department for National Book Week last November. Stories from all lands were illustrated by students and located on a huge wall map.

Mathematics

You may avoid staying just a buck private if you are among those senior boys finishing off with the refresher math course this year. It is being offered especially to help boys gain a higher rating when they enter the armed forces. In this way Austin High School is making its contribution to the great all-out war effort.

Enrollment in all math courses has increased greatly, giving proof that 'rithmetic is not neglected in high school, but is stressed along with readin' and writin'.

Science

Encouraging people with scientific ability to continue in their studies is one of the most important functions of the science department. This year the Naturalist Club was replaced by the Junior Academy of Science which is a member of the national organization of the same name. Science Talent Search tests were administered to outstanding seniors who wished to try for scholarships. All possible aid was given during the year to individual scientific progress of all kinds.

Industrial Arts

With a low supply of materials for the construction of many projects of the Industrial Arts department, smaller projects have been undertaken this year.

Scrap materials have furnished the needed raw equipment for these projects. Critical war materials were restricted for the use of the department in most cases, and substitutions had to be made. Once again, necessity proved to be the mother of invention, and the work of the department went on with almost the usual full time schedule of projects.

Among the post war plans of the Industrial Arts department are the enlarging of the whole set-up and the inclusion of courses for girls as well as boys. In the area of homemaking, girls will find elementary knowledge of shop useful when a drawer refuses to budge or the cupboard door sticks stubbornly.

Betty Barneck, Olive Cross

Miss Audrey Pearson, B. S., home economics, Waitress Club . . . . Miss Maud Vest, B. S., home economics, What Knot Club . . . . Mrs. Elizabeth Gleason, B. S., home economics, department chairman.

Home Economics

Because of the many slippers and afghans made by the home economics department, a good share of the servicemen are more comfortably happy. This year the classes are specializing in making supplies for the Red Cross. In the sewing classes, girls receive instruction in the elementary mechanics of both hand and machine sewing, and they are also taught the good selection and care of clothes.

Practical knowledge of all food principles, canning and planning, preparing and serving meals make up the busy round of the cooking section of home economics. Artistic arrangement of the table and the duties of a hostess are both stressed.

From these classes, a girl may receive the knowledge of household affairs which will enable her to perform her duties as housekeeper with intelligence and interest which will make for the health and happiness of her family.

Industrial Arts

O. F. Tramontine, B. S., auto mechanics, shop, electricity . . . . Jack Kentta, drawing printing, golf . . . . J. A. Ranum, shop, athletic ticket collection, hall patrol, bicycle patrol . . . . Miss Ruth Culbert, B. A., Spanish, English . . . . Miss Irene Taeuber, B. S., M. A., German . . . . Mrs. Katherine Bogart, B. A., M A., Latin, department chairman, Latin Club.

Languages

Get to know your neighbors better! Language opens to each of us a field of expression of ideas which otherwise would be limited by the transmission of an interpreter. In Latin classes, stress has been placed upon professional use of the language. The Spanish students are making a study of the culture of Spanish-speaking countries. "Das Loschblatt," published by German class students, adds interest to their work.

A., typing, shorthand, publications business adviser.

Commercial

Everything in the whole commercial department has been greatly speeded up this year. Those students who have obtained a commercial background and education are needed far and wide in a hurry. The department is turning out the finished product in much less time with good results.

One of the projects completed this year was for the Junior Red Cross which adopted the plan of mimeographing Christmas cards and stencil plans which were made by girls in the commercial classes.

Physical Education

Muscles for sale! Stimulating games of volleyball relax your mind and strengthen your body. In volleyball, a favorite gym class game, teams are formed and they challenge each other. Everyone likes to play because the inexpert players get an equal chance to participate.

If your waistline needs slimming down or if you should feel dull and listless, just let someone who has been taking "phy ed" this year show you exactly what to do. After a sporting game of shuffleboard, ping-pong, darts, or maybe a cool dip in the pool, you will feel like a new person ready to participate in class affairs. Certain requirements of the State Department of Education for both boys and girls have made quite a change in the physical education schedule this year. Physical fitness means a great deal to Austin students.

A thrill of satisfaction surges through the observer who happens to be passing through a gymnasium class. There the health and physical strength of the future citizens of America are developed and sustained.

Evar W. Silvernagle, B. S., gym., noon duty, swimming, track . . . . Harold Hastings, M. A., S. S., gym, football, department chairman . . Miss Esther Eerkes, B. A., gym, Pep Club, G. A. A. . . . .Miss Tana Reiff, B. P. E., gym, Cheerleaders, Pep Club, junior high G. A. A.

Marilyn Miller, Maxine Hanson, Robert Mellem, Robert Mix, Janet Smith.

Music

No matter what part of Austin High one happens to be in at any time of the school-day, he is liable to hear one of the many music groups practicing.

Mr. Sperati has the bands, while the chorus, and orchestras are under the direction of Mr. Deines.

The activities of the band are a little more strenuous and varied than the others, but each has its own concerts or programs at times during the school year. The band plays at football and basketball games, concerts and in various parades throughout the year, while the chorus and orchestras confine their activities to appearing for concerts, plays, etc.

All through the day these organizations, plus the junior high groups under Mrs. Sjoquist, can be heard practicing in their respective rooms.

Austin High not only has fine athletic teams, but also has fine musical organizations, and can well be proud of them.

Henry L. Deines, B. M., chorus, junior orchestra, senior orchestra . . . . C. Vittorio Sperati, B. A., first band, second band, music chairman . . . . Mrs. Agnes Sjoquist, B. M., vocal music, eighth grade adviser.

Speech

Teaching the proper method of producing vowel and consonant sound is the main object of the speech correction department. This department endeavors to correct defective speech as well as to improve faulty speech. Special classes are held during the day for pupils in grades one through high school. These classes are conducted by Miss Theo Olsen and Miss Mary Margaret Jaeger.

Teaching correct speech may require a good deal of patience on the part of both teacher and pupil. Classes are held in rooms easily accessible to all students. If faulty speech makes one feel inferior, the correction of faulty speech increases one's confidence. Many pupils have become better students because of corrections made in their speech which gave them more confidence in themselves. The importance of correct speaking cannot be overestimated. In prewar days when jobs were scarcer, a person with correct speech was more likely to receive a good position than the one with defective speech. A person with defective speech cannot obtain full success in his particular field of work.

Miss Theo Olsen . . . . Miss Mary Margaret Jaeger.

Art

Did you notice the clever designs and pictures around the various entrances, on the windows, and throughout the corridors? These have been designed by the students of the advanced art classes. The seventh and eighth graders are studying printing for patriotic posters. When they can correctly print the individual letters and space them, they start drawing the actual posters. These posters help greatly in the selling of war stamps and bonds.

The industrial and commercial aspects of art in advertising, lettering, show card printing, and display work of all kinds make art courses a great asset to the school.

Stanley Whittemore, B. S. . . . . Mrs. Helen Scheer, B. S.

Mrs. Beatrice Witt . . . . Mrs. Janet Hendrickson.

Nurses

Always ready to give first aid when a fellow stubs his toe in gym class or a girl cuts her finger in home economics, the nurses find their office a busy place and their days filled with many student problems.

There is a regular routine of testing in vision, hearing, and dental examinations. Aside from that work, the two nurses have full schedules of visits to the six grade school buildings and to the homes of students who are ill.

Examinations for the brawny athletes before the beginning of any season always means that practice for that sport is soon to begin.

Giving Mantoux Tests

Mantoux tests were given to all students who wished to have them in grades nine and twelve. This very valuable project was financed by the sale of Christmas Seals.

The tests were given during a general home room period one day last December, and the results were read and noted two days later. Where necessary, follow-up examinations were given and further treatment encouraged.

Walter Felty, Dr. Hertle, Orville Engleby, Pat O'Marro.

Harold Radke, B. S., agriculture . . . . Miss Lena B. Grinley, B. M., Dean of Girls, Senior Friendship Club . . . . Harold Kannady, B. S., co-ordinator, student patrol.

Counselors

As an instructor of vocational agriculture, Mr. Radke ranks among the best. While the war has forced the cancellation of judging trips, it has increased other activities of his department like the farm machinery repair course.

Of help to students is Miss Grinley, girls' counselor, social director, and adviser of the Senior Friendship Club. She is especially fond of music and has a college degree in it. For recreation she likes bowling. Miss Grinley cheerfully avails herself to girls and boys in helping them become adjusted to various school situations.

Co-ordinator Mr. Kannady finds jobs for students who wish to do part-time work. He is also head of the student patrol. By means of a test, he can determine a student's interest and often discover latent talents. He has a beautiful ring which he made through his hobby of gem grinding.

Office Assistants

Causing many a headache to the office workers these days is the withholding tax on payrolls. The war has brought on new programs with the result that more bookkeeping and accounting must be done. Textbook shortages and restrictions on all sorts of school materials make ordering a difficult job. Student attendance, or lack of it, also causes work.

Mrs. Josephine Warfield, Miss Marjorie Hamlin, Miss Lucille Churchill, Miss Edna Lien, Miss Jeannette Smith, Miss Muriel Mogen, Mrs. Viola Hall.

Mrs. Genevieve Kemen, Mrs. Fanny Gemmel, Mrs. Ida Richards.

Cafeteria

Um-m-m! Where are those pleasant food odors coming from? We all know that they are created down in the cafeteria with Mrs. Kemen directing the staff of help. The favorite food among the students seems to be mashed potatoes with gravy, and—pies! The cafeteria staff makes it possible for us to receive our noon meals at school with much less expense, and with correctly planned diets for our benefit.

Custodians

To keep a two-million-dollar school building looking like two million dollars is the aim of Mr. Christgau, building engineer. This job occupies most of his time, but when he is not working, he likes hunting and fishing. His staff is on a day-and-night shift arrangement to take care of the many necessary mechanical duties of the school.

Row two: Adolph Lindell, Ole Jacobson, Ruben Wignes, Joe Mandt, Otto Tollerud.
Row three: Ed Mithuen, Art Halling, Gilbert Hermanson, Chris Quam, Eddie M. Johnson, Henry Wicks.

Miss Hazel Murray

Teacher Training

Under the direction of Miss Murray, the Teacher Training Department is allowed a maximum enrollment of sixteen students. However, the attraction of war jobs has been a factor in causing a decrease of three students from last year's maximum. This reduction in the number of people trained for teaching seems to be a current trend over the nation and is a regrettable one.

For the sake of post-war educational efficiency, it is desirable that more graduates enter education as a profession. The girl who stays in the rural school on the home front makes a contribution necessary to both war and peace.

This year's prospective teachers represent the following six towns: Austin, Blooming Prairie, Grand Meadow, Kasson, Owatonna, and Rose Creek.

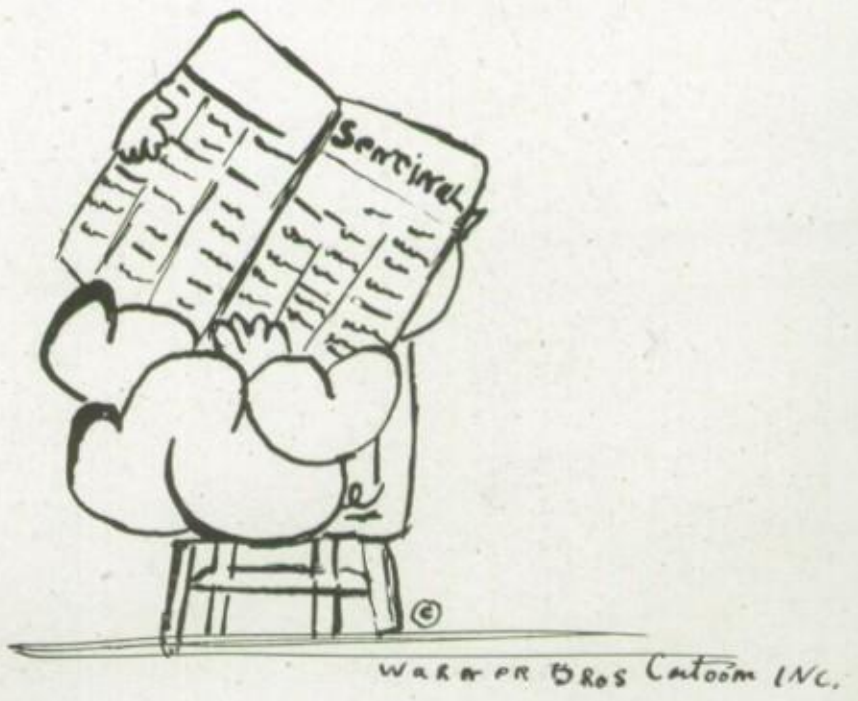
Seventh Grade Officers

Ramona Beckel, Lois Hopfe, Robert Richardson, president; Richard Anderson.

Our average student, Porky Pig, joins as many clubs as his extra time permits, and is interested in the activities of all of them. While he can't be an officer in each, he tries to be a worthwhile active member. He realizes, subconsciously perhaps, that such contacts with many people give him the self-confidence he needs in a successful life.

ORGANIZATIONS



Junior Councilmen

Hear ye! Hear ye! The Junior High Council of Austin High is now in session. And what a session it is. The president, Jon Millen, is rapping for order; the secretary, Peggy Beck, is reading the minutes of the last meeting; and Wendell Munson, the vice president, is collecting money for the Junior Red Cross.

The Junior Council works, under the guidance of Mr. Rabideau, with the Senior Council as a governing agency in the school.

Student Governors

The members of the Student Council are representatives who are elected by each home room to work with teachers on matters pertaining to school government.

The various activities are: supervising the study halls, the servicemen's center, the library, and working as teachers' assistants. An athletic slogan contest was conducted, and the Junior and Senior Councils worked jointly during the Junior Red Cross drive. The organization also assisted Miss Buswell with the P.T.A. program on extra-curricular activities in November.

George Millen served as Student Council president, with Leo Sandgren as vice president, Marion Christensen as secretary, Barbara Boyd as treasurer, and Miss Mitchell as adviser.

First row: Haydon, Munson, Millen, Reinhart, Chaffee, Gunderson, Mellem.
Second row: Fladgaard, Jarvis, Hardy, Hopfe, Shutt, Gaughran, Sayles, Thompson.
Third row: Sjobakken, Baumgartner, Varco, Anhorn, Kough, Jones, Anderson.

Junior Council

First row: Field, Mattson, J. Nelson, Underhill, B. Anderson, Rugg, McCoy, Proulx, Clough, Baumgartner, Boyd, Mellem, M. Christensen. Second row: B. Nelson, Born, P Cotter, Wesendorf, Bogart, Beadell, Warner, Lane, A. Erickson, Gallentine, M. Jensen, Gillson, Knowlton, Myhre. Third row: Dahlgren, Warfield, H. Anderson, Sperati, J. Traffic Cops

Traffic patrolmen are on duty in the morning, at noon, and after school. Boys are recommended by Mr. Knudson and appointed by Mr. Kannady. Patrolmen receive a certificate of merit for one year's service and a gold pin for two years of faithful service. Donald Barnes is senior captain and Gerald Hindemith is junior captain.

Wheel Guards

Everywhere one sees the great change gas rationing has brought. Students who formerly rode to school in nice cars now ride their bikes. This presents a real problem to James S. Anderson, captain of the bicycle patrol. He and his patrolers see that all bikes are properly parked to give the school a neat appearance. Mr. Ranum is adviser.

Future F.B.I.'s

This is the younger generation of the future plain clothes men. As you know, if one violates the laws of the country, state, or city a plain clothes man usually arrests the offender, and he must settle in one way or another. In this same manner, the hall patrol warns and arrests offenders in the halls.

Lloyd Ferguson heads the group as captain and Mr. Ranum supervises it.

Senior Friendship Club

Friendship is a precious thing
And dear to all.
Beyond the wealth of prince or king
And free to love.
If friendship 'round your heart would twine
Oh, turn it not away
Lest you lose that gift divine
And lose that gift for aye.

The Senior Friendship Club is a service and social organization for tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade girls. The girls are organized to offer service to the school and community and to promote and maintain a spirit of friendliness.

Members of the Inner Circle, the governing group, are elected from each class. These capable girls do the actual organizing of the club's activities together with the chairmen of the various groups into which the club is divided.

The projects of the club have included sale of refreshments at the games for financing service projects, assisting with Junior Red Cross work and with registration, sponsoring mixers and teas, and acting as guides on various occasions.

Officers of the club are Audrey Erickson, president; Ellen Hainer, vice president; Margery Geraghty, secretary; and Roselind Hines, treasurer. Miss Grinley is adviser with Mrs. Flom as assistant.

To Foster Friendship

If you are a ninth grade girl and do not know any girls your own age, one of the best organizations to join is the Ninth Grade Friendship Club.

This year the ninth grade girls have devoted themselves to helping the Junior Red Cross in any way possible.

The officers are Mary Lou Kough, president; Ardys Dahl, vice president; and Joan Northwick, secretary-treasurer. The girls are supervised by Miss Sampson.

Young Chums

The seventh and eighth grade branch of the Friendship Club has a picnic in the spring and another in the fall to give the girls a chance to get better acquainted.

With picnics such a common occurrence, a person might think it was all play and no work which certainly isn't true. The club is very active in Junior Red Cross work and in the promotion of the sale of stamps and bonds. Miss Martini is adviser.

Young Scientists

Renovating Mr. Bones' tibia and fibula and other appendages, analyzing blood, and making microscopic slides, and studying the development of the chick embryo are a few of the activities of the members of the Junior Academy of Science.

Affiliated with the National Academy of Science and the Science Clubs of America, the purpose of the organization is to encourage senior high science activities. The meetings are held every other Tuesday under the direction of Miss Leonard. Glenn Gaddis has served as president, Rose Marie Cotter was vice president, and Noreen Eilts was secretary-treasurer.

How To Keep Your Figure

One, two, three, four. One, two, three, four. Up, down. Up, down. Faster, Faster. Get that foot up! Push-ups, sit-ups, burpies, jumping jacks and what have you. This may sound mighty strenuous to you but it is all in a day's work (out) for the girls in the G. A. A.

G. A. A. means Girls' Athletic Association. It is following the workout programs the government gives the girls in the services.

Those serving as officers are Marilyn Moe, president; Bonita Rosenbrock, vice president; Mary Fisch, secretary-treasurer; Shirley Perkins and Donna Hallman, council members. Miss Eerkes is director of the club.

Hi-Y Cabinet

All Men Are Brothers

The Hi-Y Club endeavors "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character." The platform is "Clean speech, clean scholarship, clean sports, clean living."

This boys' club is divided into two groups: the senior group and the junior group. The former is only to seniors while the latter will admit only sophomores and juniors. The officers of the junior division are as follows: President, John Erickson; vice president, Blair Hainer; secretary, Harold Ball; treasurer, David Guy; chaplain, Donald LaValley. Officers of the senior division are: President, Clayton Schulz; vice president, Allan Tonding; secretary, Donald Kral; treasurer, Warren Liebenstein; chaplain, Glenn Gaddis. Both divisions meet every other Wednesday. Officers meet on intervening Wednesdays. The organization endeavors to help high school fellows improve in personal habits and character and to apply Christianity in service to others.

The Hi-Y meetings discuss such topics as boy problems, boy-girl relations, responsibility in the war, importance of church loyalty, and personal habits. The Fire of Friendship is an annual outdoor meeting in the fall to show the importance of friendship between races and nationalities. Other annual events are the induction ceremony, staging a high school assembly, all church Sunday project during Lent, and a Mother-Son or Father-Son meeting.

Group B

Report At Once

The girls you see walking the halls and bounding merrily into your classroom with a time card or detention contract are the assistants in the attendance office.

Without the help of these girls, the efficiency of the office would be almost impossible. They perform many duties including collecting attendance slips, recording, filing, and distributing the unwanted reminders.

They give up one free hour every day and are under the supervision of Mr. Wescott.

Women In White

How is your bedside manner? Does your touch quicken the pulse? The nurses' office boasts a corps of four girls who assist the nurses by sterilizing the dental instruments, rolling bandages, and doing preparation work and office work. The girls spend one hour daily in the office. The incentive is that they are interested in nursing or office work.

Art Of Pulling Strings

Don't put too much cotton in him! Be sure you get the strings right! Make his face as real as you can! Hold it; that little string is for his toe, not his ear! Talk like that is heard all the time at the meetings of the Marionette Club. All work concerned with making the puppets and the scenery and costumes is done by the students.

The work of the club is guided by Miss Buswell and this year the group presented "Rip Van Winkle" for the student body.

Officers for the year are Lavonne Paulson, president; Lorraine Fleming, vice president; Raymon Schroeder, secretary; and Lois Dreyer, treasurer.

K. P. Duty

Rural students and others who find it impossible to go home for lunch are grateful to the girls who help with the serving of their meals at a small cost. During the winter months approximately 400 students buy their lunches in the cafeteria.

Movie Makers

Almost everyone enjoys seeing movies. The visual education program allows students to do just that and at the same time learn something of history, social science, literature, science, machines, and the science of living.

First row: Kneeskern, Jensen, Gaddis, Heine, Srp, Ziemer. Second row: Gaddis, Krug, Ravenhorst, Morris, Renslow.

Lost Anything?

The girls in the Lost and Found Department could easily qualify for Edgar Hoover's F. B. I. They are kept busy tracking down those people who lose things.

The student body would be surprised at some of the peculiar things that they have lost. There is everything from jackets to marbles!

Rah, Rah, Team!

Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Team! team! team! The Pep Club is up to its old tricks again, lifting the spirits of good sportsmanship and pep.

Maybe not everyone will remember the Homecoming of '44, but girls of the Pep Club certainly will. The money earned at that gala affair was used to buy letter sweaters for the girls in the club. The club paid half the price of each sweater bought by a senior girl.

Those "raunchie" pep fests during the basketball, wrestling, and swimming seasons were sponsored by the Pep Club. Each fest was put on by a different group, but it was up to the club to see that there was one for each game. Miss Eerkes and Miss Reiff are advisers, Ellen Hainer is president, Helen Anderson is vice president, and Roselind Hines is secretary.

How Many, Please

A patron eyeing crowded bleachers in the gymnasium may worry about squeezing himself in; but to members of the Ushers Club, this presents no problem. They assist at school functions open to the public such as concerts, plays, basketball games, commencement, and baccalaureate.

The Hi-Y took over the Ushers Club this year. Last year they supplied the members. In other years boys were elected from the senior class.

The club took over the ushering project as a service to the school. David Owen is chairman of the Ushers group and Mr. McCartney is supervisor.

Stars Of Tomorrow

To see the comical and tragic sides of things, Dirk and Bauble is the organization. It is a society for seniors who have earned the required 11 points in dramatic activities during their senior high school. At the club meetings, the members study plays, acting techniques, and make-up. Each year in the spring they present a play in which underclassmen who wish to become future members may take part. This year's production was "Lavender and Old Lace."

Much of the preparation is the responsibility of the club officers: Allan Tonding, president; Shirley Mae Nelson, vice president; and Darlene Johnson, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Nasby is the director.

The Players

With corncob pipes and hill billies, the Junior Drama Club presented Ned Albert's "Comin' Round the Mountain" to a junior high assembly last winter. These young actors hope to participate in future class plays and perhaps become members of the senior drama club.

Through the concessions at games, they have earned money to buy a makeup kit and have been able to start a file of plays given by the club. There are 30 active members. Donald Liebenstein is president; Edith Weseman is vice president; Miriam Anderson is treasurer, and Mary Jane Knowlton is secretary. Mr. Luehmann served as adviser.

As you have seen, Porky Pig has enrolled in high school. Credit for use of the little playfellow goes to Warner Brothers' Studio.

When the Austinian wrote for permission to use him, the studio graciously consented. This is part of the letter the staff received:

"As for Porky going out for athletics—we would be very much pleased. The exercise might help hold down his weight, which as you can see, is considerable."

Members of the Austinian staff are eligible for Quill and Scroll, the international honorary journalism fraternity. Barbara Boyd is the editor-in-chief; Donald Anhorn, associate editor; and Charles Tedrow, business manager. Miss Keller and Miss Davis are advisers.

Budding Writers

Even full-fledged journalists believe in type lice. That has been the experience of members of the Sentinel staff which numbers about 50 students enrolled in journalism.

The Sentinel furnishes a record of the school activities during the year. An average of 15 issues is published during the year.

The highlight of the year is the annual State Press Convention. The "Cub Edition," one of the editions of the year, is done entirely by juniors while the last issue is devoted to the seniors.

Future Farmers

Learning to do, doing to learn, earning to live, living to serve is the motto of the Future Farmers of America. Their purpose is to develop good leaders, induce love of country life, create confidence, train for neatness, teach boys to strive for higher goal.

The F. F. A. discusses farm problems, management of livestock, and keeping of records. Some of the annual events are the indoor initiation, a football game of the freshmen and sophomores versus the juniors and seniors, and the Father-Son banquet.

The officers of the F. F. A. are: president, Albert Friedrich; vice president, Robert Pyburn; secretary, Harold Lunde; treasurer, Francis Miller; reporter, Donald Barnes; watch dog, Harry Teepell; adviser, Mr. Radke.

Societas Latina

"Forsan et haec olim meminisse iuvabit." (Vergil) Perhaps sometime it would be pleasant to remember this also.

The Latin Club was re-organized this year under the new adviser, Mrs. Bogart. Membership consists of Latin students who are interested in ancient Rome and its history. On the social calendar there was a Christmas party in December and a Roman banquet in February.

Officers who served for the year are: consuls, Ralph Howells, Ann Huntting; praetor, Jeanne Heisey; quaestor, John Hillmer; censor, Arthur Folken; tribunes, Elaine Anhorn, Richard Hansen.

First row: Wiley, Van Pelt, L. Gates, Lee, Myer, Pyburn, Teepell, Burgstrom. Second row: Jones, Haldersen, Friedrich, Schulz, Schaub, Lunde, Miller, McGee, C. Service For Our Readers

Suppose your teacher says to you, "Find out in what age the Archaeopteryz and the Plesiossurus first appeared and in what region." Now you never heard of such a thing, not to mention when it first appeared or where! But are you daunted by such a minor detail as that? No! The first thing you think of is the library and Miss Church.

Miss Church has a group of girls to help her with all the jobs in the library. The tasks are rotated so that each girl learns many services.

Officers serving for the year are June Van Vleet, president; Ruth Hansen, vice president; and Nancy Young, secretary.

Service With A Smile

Dark skirts and white blouses individualize the girls of the Waitress Club as guests sit luxuriously at a banquet table in the cafeteria—perhaps the Junior-Senior prom.

The membership includes 30 girls from the eighth to twelfth grades. As an exception to other years, eighth grade girls have been permitted to join, providing they have had some cafeteria experience. They serve at all special banquets held at the school. This year they assisted with the Safety Banquet, the Football Banquet, and the F. F. A. Banquet.

They are supervised by Miss Pearson.

Future Journalists

The junior high Sentinel staff is composed of seventh, eighth, and ninth graders who rank high in their English classes. They are chosen each year from competitive writing. There is a limit of twelve on the staff.

The editor is always a ninth grader. This year Lester Hansen served as editor.

Helen Koch, a member of the senior staff, supervises them. These young journalists write all the material in the junior department of the Sentinel. They hope some day to be members of the senior staff.

Glamorous Homemakers

If you want to avoid housemaid's knee and learn to look glamorous while working over a hot stove, join the What Knot Club.

What Knotters of today are the housemakers of tomorrow. During their two meetings each month, these seventh and eighth grade girls learn pointers on cooking, cleaning, leadership, and etiquette. The members pay no dues but earn their money through their annual Pecan Roll Sale. Highlight of the year is their spring banquet which the girls prepare themselves.

Loretta Hayes is president, Delores Adams is secretary-treasurer, and Miss Vest is adviser.

What Knot Club

"Music, Maestro!"

The band has grown up! Its veteran director, Mr. Sperati launched the band as a separate unit with its own concerts for the first time this year.

Of special delight and popularity to the student body was the addition of swing numbers to the band's basketball repertoire.

"Pop" has labored longer hours to perfect each section of the band through sectional practices.

The band was awarded the War Council distinguished service citation in recognition of its outstanding contributions in the war effort through participation in special wartime musical activities.

Edward Fisch was president until he went into service in January when Dwayne Nelson took over. Darlene Johnson is secretary-treasurer.

This year the orchestra is preparing for its concerts under the direction of Mr. Deines. The most important event is the music festival held this year in Rochester.

The music of the orchestra consists mostly of operas and overtures but some marches are played, too. The group is composed of senior high students and this has reduced its size to 32 members.

An added pleasure of the study hall students has been the practice hour of the Junior Orchestra. The group has performed such works as Handel's "Pastoral Symphony," "Ballet from Rosamunde" by Schubert, and Bizet's "Intermezzo."

Richard Reinhart is president, Dorothy Hegge is vice president; Dorothy Sjoquist is secretary-treasurer; Lois Weseman is librarian.

Mellow Tones

The stepping stones to the Senior Band are the Beginners and Junior Bands. Those entering Beginners Band usually have had no previous instrumental training so here they advance together until they have the ability to become members of the Junior Band.

The Junior Band has at least one concert and an assembly program through the year. Much time is spent in practicing and preparing because the Junior Band of today will be the Senior Band of tomorrow.

They are directed by Mr. Sperati. Officers of Beginners Band are Duane Richards, president; Wallace Wortz, vice president; Ramon Felton, secretary. Robert Johannsen is president of the Junior Band with Robert Bateman as vice president, and Ruth Ann Hansen as secretary.

Choral Artists

The vocal music heard from third floor comes from the Mixed Chorus directed by Mrs. Sjoquist.

The chorus consists of 200 members and comprises the girls' glee club and the seventh and eighth grade music classes.

The ninety-six members of the Senior Chorus really start the day out right by singing. Any morning you stroll down by the band room first hour, you can hear them practicing for a concert or for the festival which is held in the spring, this year at Rochester. The chorus is directed by Mr. Deines.

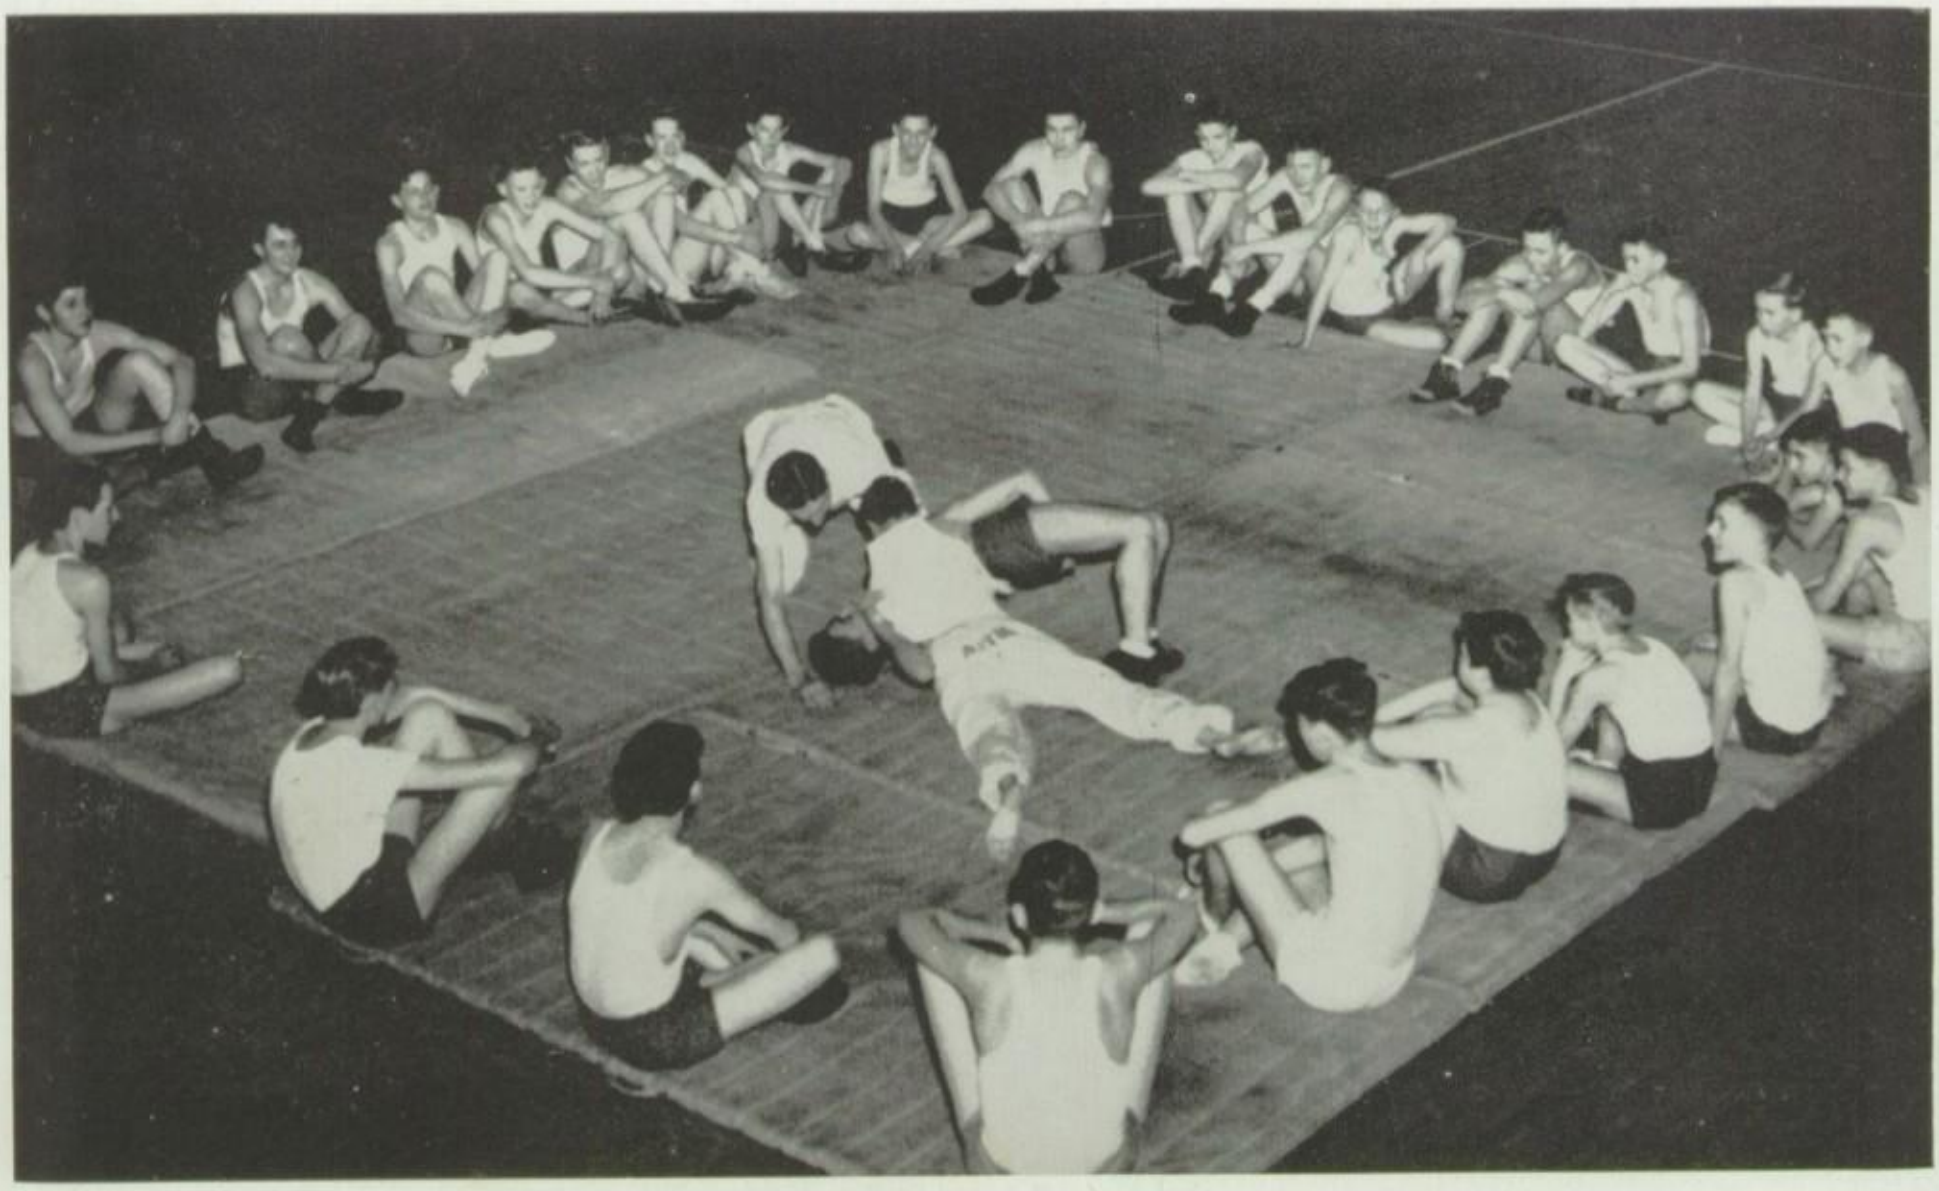
CHORUS. First row: Gray, Geraghty, W. Warfield, Sathre, Nelson, Bentzen, Volkman, Born, Taylor, Zook, Witt, J. Warfield, B. Smith, L. Both as a participant and as a loyal fan, Porky takes part in athletics. He plays for the fun of the game and for the spirit of wholesome competition. He knows he is building a strong body for his future life while he is giving his all for his alma mater in friendly sports.

ATHLETICS



Plenty of action in gym class.

Physical Education for Physical Fitness

Again this year the aim of the physical education classes was to improve the physical condition of each student. Each one was required to take two hours of gym work during the week. A general plan was made early in the fall by the instructors and then was followed throughout the year.

During the fall quarter, weather permitting, the classes ran out to the athletic field and played touch football. If the weather was unsuitable, the boys took a swim in the high school pool. Basketball was taken up at the beginning of the second quarter and was played until Christmas vacation.

After vacation, the boys were made to do calisthenics, stunts, and work on the heavy apparatus. They also did tumbling to build up their muscles. To determine their progress, tests were administered to the boys at various times. During the latter part of the winter, the classes were given instruction in boxing and wrestling.

Toward the end of school, classes again marched out to the field for a few weeks of track and softball.

Football--1944

This year's edition of the Scarlets unleashed a new "T-formation" and had a very successful year. They won four out of six conference games including the Homecoming victory over Rochester, the conference champs, 30-0. On the other side of the ledger was a defeat at the hands of Mason City in the opening game 14-0, a loss to Owatonna 12-6, and the final game at Albert Lea in which the traditional rivals waged a terrific struggle that found the Scarlets coming out on the short end of a 13-0 score. The footballers went all out in winning four consecutive games at home by defeating Waseca, Faribault, Winona, and Rochester, and then traveled to Mankato to hand them a 28-7 beating.

The underclassmen contributed a great deal to the team's success with Harp Richardson at end, John Erickson and Ed Gomer at the guards, and Harold Ball at center; but the graduating class took the largest share of the burden. In the backfield, Les Tate starred as quarterback in the "T" and also had the added responsibility of calling the signals. Dick Stone was back from last year's team at fullback and the halves were George Potter, Leo Sandgren, Francis Grant, and Maynard Sathre. In the line were bruisers John Dolan, Alan Josephson, Don Akkerman, and Clarence Minkel at the tackles; Jim Silbaugh and Jim Huntting were at the guard posts. George Millen at center, Jim Gibb at end, and Duane Cummings alternated at guard and in the backfield.

Sathre around end.

"B" Squad Football

Austin High School's "B" squad under the guidance of Coaches Schrom and Wilcox completed a successful season this year. The "Bees" rang up four victories in seven games including two wins over Owatonna "B" and one over the Albert Lea "B" squad.

There are several boys on this year's team who will contribute a large part to the success of next fall's "A" squad. Among these boys are Arlin Schultz, Dale Akkerman, and Jim McGuire.

Junior High Football

Again this year Coaches Hainer and Goudy had a large turnout of eager young gridders. As usual, the squad was divided into two teams, the Black Bombers and the Purple Raiders. They played three games with the Bombers coming out on top. Highlight of the season was a game with Albert Lea's junior high which was won by Austin 6-0.

Find The Third Man!

Juniors In Action

Many boys start on the road to athletic stardom in the junior high. They are urged to come out for football and learn the fundamentals of blocking and tackling.

Football is not the only sport offered to boys of the junior high school. They may also go out for basketball and swimming. Basketball players are divided into two groups: the seventh graders and the boys in the eighth and ninth grades.

The swimmers practice every night, and at the end of the year all boys out for this sport compete in a swimming meet between the seventh and the eighth graders.

In this way are made the future athletic greats.

First row: Lembcke, Schrom, Goudy. Second row: Hainer, Hastings, Wilcox.

Coaching Staff Of Austin High

Besides teaching social studies and taking charge of noon hour activities, Walter Lembcke is backfield coach for the football team. This year he also took over the golf team in the spring.

Ray Schrom is "B" squad coach and trainer for the athletic teams. This year he also had charge of track, and he teaches several gym classes.

Baseball is the field of Nat Goudy. He coaches the junior high football team known as the Purple Raiders.

Future basketball stars are developed by Blair Hainer on his "B" squad. He has charge of a junior high football team, the Black Bombers.

Director of athletics for Austin High and grade schools is Harold "Red" Hastings. During football season he is line coach, and he also teaches several gym classes. He has coached three teams through undefeated seasons during his career in the years 1933, 1939, and 1943.

Assisting with the "B" football team is Ernest S. "Sky" Wilcox. Last winter he led a successful wrestling team into the regional tourney and on to the state.

State Champs

Austin's great swimming team topped an undefeated season by walking off with the state championship at Cook Hall in Minneapolis. They succeeded in beating defending champion Hibbing by four points.

The "human torpedo," Elias Seira, led the team to its first championship by winning two firsts. The 200 yard free style relay team also won a first. The tankers were unstoppable in all eight of their meets including the Big Nine triangular meet against Winona and Rochester.

Besides Seira, the team was bolstered by Jimmy Anderson, Lester Tate, Leo Sandgren, Everett Pack, and Dave Seira.

National Champion

Elias Seira, in winning the interscholastic 100 and 200 yard free style events at Trenton, New Jersey, proved himself a real champion. He also won the same two events at the state tourney at Minneapolis. In doing so, he broke two full seconds off the 220 yard state record. He is an honor student and is very well liked by fellow students. He served as class president in his sophomore year.

Elias started swimming on the team when he was only in the eighth grade and has continued to improve right along. He is now finishing his junior year in school so has one more year of competition ahead of him. His feats have really put Austin on the map as a fine swimming town.

Tank Coach

"Man of the hour" in swimming circles in the state of Minnesota is Coach Silvernagle of Austin High. He led a superb team to the first state championship Southern Minnesota has ever had.

Mr. Silvernagle came here six years ago from Preston. Since that time, the tankers have been making steady progress to the top of the state heap. He has coached two national champion swimmers: Louis Anderson, breast-stroke champ in 1941, and Elias Seira, 100 and 200 yard freestyle champ this year.

A modest fellow, Coach Silvernagle won't talk much about his triumphs. He was captain of his college swimming team and has always been associated with waterfront work, having ten years of life-guarding to his credit. Each summer he is in charge of swimming activities for the Austin recreation department.

Bowling

Frank Stephenson

In this year's bowling league at the local Recreation Club, top honors were carried off by Ray Schrom's group of keglers. They met Walter Lembcke's team in a playoff.

At the end of the regular schedule, these two teams were tied for top honors.

Pressing the two for first was Henry Deines' team while J. A. Ranum and his bowlers had to be content with fourth place.

Austin vs. Patrick Henry

Basketball

Austin's basketeers opened this year's season by meeting the state champion, Patrick Henry. Although the team, led by George Potter, put up a grand fight, the height of big Jim McIntyre was too much for the Scarlets and the Pats won by a 46-30 score. Next followed two easy Big Nine victories over Northfield and Rochester. The Scarlets followed up these by traveling down to Mason City to upset the powerful Mohawks by 10 points.

The boys came back after Christmas vacation with a real thriller to beat South High of Minneapolis 44-43. After a 48-27 victory over Owatonna, the Scarlets traveled to Waseca where they were upset by the Sekes in a non-conference game. However, the team rebounded in grand style to beat a fine Red Wing club in the season's top game. Although Mankato proved tough at first, Austin was able to pull through with a 31-25 score for their fifth Big Nine win in a row. Faribault provided Austin with its first conference setback, 40-31. The next two games brought two losses at the hands of Mason City and Rochester in very close games. The Scarlets then proceeded to win three straight from Waseca, Albert Lea, and Winona. In the season's finale, Albert Lea won a thriller from the Scarlets on the Tigers' home court.

This year's quint was sparked by Harp Richardson and George Potter who were one, two in scoring. Harold Ball and George Millen played sparkling defensive ball. The outlook for next season is very bright indeed with three regulars returning. They are Harp Richardson, Jim McGuire, and Harold Ball.

Coach Blair Hainer's "B" squad completed a highly successful season with a record of 11 games won as against only 3 losses. The Bees whipped Albert Lea "B" twice, while tripping the Owatonna, Faribault, and Mason City seconds once. They also split two games with Rochester while beating numerous small towns around Austin.

This year's five presented several boys who will be real threats on the varsity in later years. Among these are Swede Evenson, Dave Mix, Loren Mattson, Bob Anhorn, George Vest, and Bradley Sutter.

Wrestling

Coach Wilcox and his squad of grapplers completed a 50-50 season with two wins each over Albert Lea and Owatonna and one victory over Rochester.

At the regional tournament in Owatonna, Austin took second place when they were nosed out by Rochester by only a single point.

Boys who qualified for the state tournament at the University of Minnesota were Bill Hardy, John Lund, Hiram Jensen, and Don Akkerman.

The squad was dealt a serious blow in the middle of the season when Donald Schieck, Glenn Gaddis, and Alan Josephson enlisted in the Navy.

Spring Sports

Tennis prospects were rather dark this year since Coach Evans had lost many veterans from last year's squad including George Dastyck and Dick Nelson who won the Big Nine doubles championship. Guy Epley was the only returning letterman.

Coach Walt Lembcke's golf team was sparked by the veteran Clarence Orpen. New boys and several golfers from last year helped out considerably.

Track Coach Schrom tried to get along as well as possible without the services of Frank Wright this season. James Gibb, Clarence Minkel, and Lester Saunders were point getters on this year's squad.

Baseball prospects were bright indeed for a successful season this spring. Only two or three from last year's class "M" championship team were gone. George Potter and Harp Richardson did the elbowing for the nine.

Girls' Sports

Swimming is favored by G. A. A. members. Points are given for doing certain kinds of dives and swimming the standard strokes which must be perfected.

G. A. A.

The goal of achievement for every G. A. A. girl is to win the red and white "A." A girl may win her "A" by earning points through the activities of the Girls' Athletic Association. She may win two letters during her senior high school career. The first is her five-inch received by earning 1500 points before ending her freshman year, and in the senior high she must earn 1500 points for a seven-inch letter before completing the twelfth grade. The girl who wins her letter through competition is proud to wear it.

There are many sports in which a girl may participate. Some of these are soccerball, volleyball, swimming, basketball, baseball, and archery. Basketball seems to be the outstanding indoor sport and baseball the favorite outdoor sport. In order to promote outdoor sports; extra points are given for hiking, skating, and bowling.

An exhibition of girls' basketball was given between halves of the Albert Lea-Austin game in which several of the girls proved to be outstanding in the sport.

Ladder climbing, balance, coordination of the muscles, and teamwork were demonstrated in a public exhibition between halves of a game before a basketball crowd.

Major G. A. A. Sports

Volleyball is played entirely with the hands. The small muscles of the hands get special development in volleyball.

Basketball was the center of interest among the indoor sports this year. It induces teamwork among the players and helps to develop coordination.

Baseball takes the spotlight among the girls' spring sports. There are no stars, but teamwork of the girls makes the game a good one.

Registration

And so another year of the work of the school begins, with the ordeal called "registration." No one in grades seven through twelve can escape it. The last month of summer vacation, August, sets the scene for the officials to get students to practice the Palmer Pen method. The only bad part, they say, is that the teachers can not read some of the writing.

Registration is very important. Through the correct choice of subjects, students build the road to success in one vocation or another. High school is sometimes only the foundation of an education, but it may be all the training that a student may have to fit him for a position in the business world.

The Work Of Austin High

Library Supervisor

Knowlton

Many and varied are the activities of Austin High, both curricular and extra-curricular.

One of the most popular spots for recreation as well as research is the beautiful library on second floor. In an atmosphere of quiet, students make use of over six thousand volumes Miss Church, librarian, assisted by members of the Library Service Club, is always very willing to help in any way. Discipline is maintained by two council assistants per period.

Mom and Dad get a taste of modern readin', 'ritin', and 'rithmetic at the P. T. A. back-to-school night. Following his child's daily schedule, the parent becomes acquainted with the work of the school.

One of the busiest departments in the whole school is the commercial department. There is lots of pencil chewing and pen biting in bookkeeping, but the students really learn the fundamentals of office recording.

In line with government requirements for scrap metal, shop classes carried on a tin salvage project. Cans furnished by the cooperative.

On the lighter side of life, pep fests provided a welcome end to many a Friday afternoon before a game. At these sessions much pent up energy was dispersed.

"When in Rome, do as the Romans" was put into use when the Latin Club held their annual banquet. Members duplicated the eating habits of these ancient pagans.

Entertainment is provided for those who spend their noon hours in the building. A varied program is maintained by a full staff of students supervised by three faculty members.

Assuring themselves a spot in the yearbook, students identified themselves. Representing over seventeen hundred students is a big job, but the staff valiantly attempts it.

Coordinating all the activities of the school is the Student Council. Its main purpose is to act as a student governing body working in cooperation with the school administration.

Homecoming

Opening the Homecoming celebration with a bang was the vivid snake dance the eve of the tussle with the Rockets. The dancers swung along to the end of Main where a huge bonfire burned and crackled.

Lots of zest and enthusiasm was displayed when Coach Hastings gave an insight into the possibilities of the game. Other speakers were Mr. Lembcke and Mr. Hainer. Everybody lost his voice and had to make a quick recovery of it to support the team the following night.

September 29, the ceremonial coronation of the queen took place. Marjorie Geraghty was the supreme ruler of the Homecoming events with Marceline Jensen and Barbara Boyd as her royal attendants.

Bedecked in long flowing robes and carrying beautiful bouquets of flowers, the queen and her court ascended to the throne.

During the course of the ceremony, the Prime Minister, Mr. Neveln; the Minister of Mental Gymnastics, Mr. Knudson; and the Minister of Athletics, Mr. Hastings, were summoned to appear before the queen to answer her inquiries about the results of the game. Upon the satisfactory answers of the summoned, the queen dismissed her court for the day, but commanded them to be on hand to witness the victory of the team in the evening.

And victory was just what it was! The winning 30 to 0 score was celebrated with the Homecoming Hop which concluded the gala occasion.

Assemblies Are Fun

At The Marimba

Burton Lynn Jackson

There is an old saying, "Variety is the spice of life." In Austin High, dullness is prevented by interesting assembly programs arranged by the student council through its assembly committee.

This year the committee subscribed to the University of Minnesota series, "The Talk of the Month." On these programs, noted authorities and entertainers were brought here. Speakers on China, Russia, Turkey, South Africa, and the war appeared.

On the lighter side, there was Burton Lynn Jackson at the marimba. Jack Rank presented his one-man play, "Macbeth." For senior English students, this program had particular interest. The Howell family of glass blowers was last in this series. After that program, no piece of glass in Austin was immune from experiment!

Lots Of Pep Here

The students took the stage themselves when the council presented a program on the extra-curricular activities of the school. This was a P. T. A. project repeated for the high school audience. The presentation of awards also formulated an annual assembly. At this program, those students who have participated in the various sports throughout the year received their letters.

All the responsibility of selecting the program lies with the Assembly Program Committee. Mrs. Weller, Mrs. Sjoquist, and Miss Bates are faculty members; June Born and Rose Cotter are the student members.

'Plane Crazy'

This year the Junior Class presented a comedy entitled "Plane Crazy." The play was directed by Miss Bates, and Janice Varco assisted her as student director.

The play was a huge success, and of course this called for a celebration. Pat Flannery, Cliff Wold, Peggy Smith, and Elaine Hovland enjoyed the refreshments and dancing.

Oddly enough, this looks like dress rehearsal. The cast is assembled on stage the night before the play to receive last minute instructions.

The Lighter Side

Band members know that ties are most difficult things to handle, but Henry Hanson has mastered the art and is passing his knowledge on to Jimmy Smith.

Doris Bentzin, Marge Geraghty, and June Born give out a mile of smiles between numbers. They were caught backstage at one of the many concerts given by the music department.

Intent on his work, Tommy Berven leads the band like a veteran. Tommy never misses a basketball game. He is the youngest conductor in the history of Austin's band.

Followers Of Orpheus

Austin's music department consists of band under the direction of Mr. Sperati and orchestra and chorus under the direction of Mr. Deines. The three groups have provided entertainment in various ways this year. Several concerts have been given at intervals during the season. The band, of course, furnished the music at pep assemblies, as well as at games.

When a member of any of these organizations is asked what the outstanding date of the season is, he will no doubt tell you that the Music Festival holds first place. This year the three groups went to Rochester May 11 for the annual festival. A delightful time was had by all. The band brought something new to the festival, namely "swing." The band has been playing swing for about a year now, but this was the first time "Pop" and his kids played any "jive" at a festival.

These organizations used to make other trips, too, at one time. For instance, in the good old days when they could charter a bus, they followed the team out of town. This was always a lot of fun. Trips were especially thrilling during the tournaments. The band managed to get to the regional at Rochester this year.

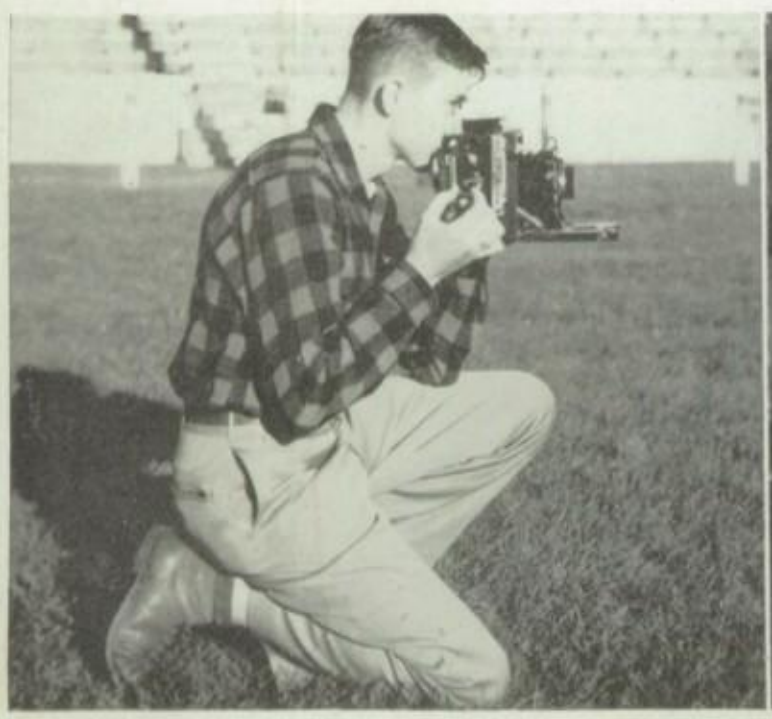
People Have More Fun

From the first bell in the fall to the last bell in June, thoughts of students are divided between class work and social life, and we rather think social life has the edge. At the first twirp of a robin, or the first lull of spring breezes, picnics, wiener roasts, scavenger hunts, and bicycle trips materialize all around. In fact, no one can escape them, but who wants to? It's the time of the year when book learnin' is the remotest thought in one's mind.

Tables are turned as Homer Pauley, school photographer, is snapped.



No. Mrs. Black didn't do this to her trig class. It seems that skiing behind cars offers a few hazards.

It's easy to see this little girl is the apple of her daddy's eye. Mr. Wescott shows Ann around backstage.

Melvin Meineke and Lloyd Hammer stop to rest and are greeted by "Fiezer" Field and Peg McCoy.

The Sweet Shop serves as the meeting place for victors as well as losers after a football game.

Prom

Arabian Nights was the theme of the Prom last year. From the moment the guests entered the hall, they were enchanted by the mysteries and weird tales of the "Arabian Nights."

The colorful wall decorations and paintings seemed a fitting background for the beautiful dresses that were worn. Limé greens, fuchsia reds and pinks, azure blues, lavenders, and soft golds colored the scene.

"Good evening. Glad you could come." Class presidents and officers, prominent officials of the school welcome the guests of the evening.

"Come and get it." Food, deliciously prepared, is enjoyed by all.

Anne Evenson, George Millen, Barb Boyd, and Eddie Fisch sign up for the next dance.

During the course of the evening, guests wandered in and out of the room where the punch bowl was found. From the crowds that frequented the room, it might be thought that this was the favorite spot of the Prom-goers.

Soft lights, melodious strains from the orchestra, beautiful dresses, all added up to a thrilling episode from the first dance to the Grand March which climaxed the evening.

Louis Borchert, Pat Perl, Dick Dahlgren, Bev Baumgartner, Dorothy Evenson, and Frank Stephenson squeezed in a little time to pose for Kenny.

"Don't mind if I do," says Marg Edson as Duane Kime offers her some punch while Janice Varco gets a big kick out of it.

Ummm, good punch! Frances Dunfee and Wayne Wilbright plan the next dance across the table.

Field Day

Time out is called by seniors in a rousing game of football.

Shirley Baldner, Lois Johnson, Margaret Edson, Pat Reed, and Pat Perl, self-appointed victors, gloat after scoring.

Rock painting was a specialty of Bev Baumgartner, Dick Dahlgren, and Dick Johnson. P.S.—It was legal this time!

Salutes the Graduating Class of 1945

Many of you will join former classmates in our country's service in the armed forces, and many more of you will be engaged in essential industries on the home front in the months to come.

We all join in extending a hearty welcome to our buddies of World War No. 2 who have returned, and also our buddies who we hope will return in the near future.

We who have followed the stars and srtipes on foreign soil or in hostile waters join in wishing you the fullest measure of success in life's future battles.

For God and Country

we associate ourselves together for the following purposes:

to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America;
to maintain law and order;
to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism;
to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War;
to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation;
to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses;
to make right the master of might;
to promote peace and good will on earth;
to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy;
to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

Congratulations
Graduates of 1945

We salute the Champions of Austin High School . . . . . .
Thruout the country Austin grads take their places as leaders in business, the professions or just unusually sound, progressive citizens of communities far and wide.

A Few are Champions:

In the Boxing World—Jackie Graves, Golden Gloves champion of the United States in the 126 pound division. Now a promising professional.

In the Golf World—Wallie Ulrich, holder of the Championship of the United States College Golfers, now in the armed services.

In the Swimming World—Elias Seira, winner this winter of the National High School championship in the 200 yard and 100 yard freestyle.

Only the background of sound training, clean living and natural ability can produce champions and Austin High offers the opportunity for the development of all these essentials.

We extend congratulations to all of them, as well as the other graduates of this year and the hundreds of older grads. of yesteryear.
